

UNDER ONE ROOF

Extensive expertise and empathy make Brumley Law Firm your one-stop shop for legal needs.

Serving the greater Puget Sound area, Brumley Law Firm handles an extensive list of personal injury, family law, criminal defense, and business litigation matters. “I enjoy having knowledge and skill sets that overlap in multiple practice areas to best represent my clients,” says Joshua Brumley, managing attorney of Brumley Law Firm.

Multidisciplinary services set Brumley Law Firm apart in the industry, allowing clients to handle multiple legal matters under one roof. “If a client is going through a divorce or needs a business contract reviewed, but was also in a car accident, they are no longer required to go to multiple law firms,” Brumley explains. “This breadth of service creates longevity and trust. I prioritize long-lasting relationships with my clients to address legal needs they may have throughout their lives.”

TRUSTED COUNSEL

While the firm can field nearly any legal case, it specializes in representing plaintiffs involved in motor vehicle accidents. Brumley stresses that legal representation is important following any collision, regardless of the size of the crash or extent of injuries sustained.

He finds that many people assume that their insurance company has their best interests in mind and that retaining an attorney is not required. Unfortunately, many people are unaware that they could reach a quick settlement through their insurance before they have an opportunity to investigate the full extent of their damages. Securing counsel immediately following an accident is the only way to ensure a client’s interests are protected and they are appropriately compensated for all their injuries.

“When it comes to motor vehicle collisions, no case is too big or too small for our firm to help a client recover what they deserve,” Brumley says.

Brumley understands that clients may struggle not only physically after a collision, but emotionally as well. Besides advocating for clients throughout the legal process, Brumley offers mental support. “Legal claims and litigation can be stressful, but it does not have to lead to sleepless nights,” he says.

At Brumley Law Firm, clients have peace of mind every step of the way. Brumley makes himself accessible to his clients, taking the time to explain the process in layman’s terms. “There’s anxiety and nonphysical damages that people go through when they’re dealing with injuries, such as loss of income and other consequences beyond physical pain,” he says. “We are here to help them.”
